

Martin Luther King Jr Day 1.18.21

* All activities are family-friendly ****

The National Civil Rights Museum

MONDAY, JANUARY 18 • 11:00AM AND 5:00PM MT

The event will showcase Dr. King's work, the history of how the national holiday came to be, as well as how the museum has celebrated the holiday in years past. The online celebration will feature musical performances, scholarly insight from Dr. Hasan Jeffries, and for young viewers, museum educator Dory Lerner will share a "Small But Mighty Storytime" reading of the book My Uncle Martin's Big Heart written by Angela Farris Watkins

Smithsonian Museum of African Diaspora

MONDAY, JANUARY 18 • 1:00PM to 6:00PM MT

The MLK holiday is usually our biggest day of the year, when we open our doors and provide free admission to our exhibitions and to a full day of programming to honor the work of Dr. King. We are unable to celebrate with you in person, so we are presenting a full day of online programming for you." MLK at MoAD is family friendly. The contents will include museum exhibitions, stories, spoken word poetry, art, performance, and reflection on the importance of justice and protest in our diverse communities.

Stanford's MLK Jr. Research and Education Institute

MONDAY, JANUARY 15-18 • See Schedule for Details

The Martin Luther King Jr. Research and Education Institute at Stanford University is hosting a free, four-day webinar and film festival. The festival will feature twenty documentaries as well as musical performances and conversations, covering a range of civil rights topic that speak to Dr. King's unanswered question: "Where do we go from here?". Register on the eventbrite link to receive links and passwords for the films.

Ogden Museum of Southern Art in New Orleans

MONDAY, JANUARY 18 • VIDEOS POSTED 10 AM CENTRAL

Come virtually participate in the "Imagining a World Without Racism" event consisting of 8 recorded programs honoring Dr. King, designed for all ages and can be watched from your own home. Spend the day enjoying programs like dance performances, an Ogden Museum virtual tour, and a guided meditation/reflection for peace (among others) - all at your own pace!

NAACP

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) has a great page contributed to Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and we challenge you to explore this organization to learn more about what they are doing today and what is still needed to be done.

<https://naACP.org/dr-martin-luther-king-jr-history/>